Soho Theatre in association with Gilded Balloon Productions presents

Amy Lamé's Mama Cass Family Singers

directed by Christine Harmar-Brown

Amy Lamé was a chubby child star in a sixties cover band.
Touring with her dysfunctional siblings she was living the American dream until it turned around and bit her on the ass.

Soho Theatre in association with Gilded Balloon Productions presents

Amy Lamé's Mama Cass Family Singers

directed by Christine Harmar-Brown

Join Amy Lamé for an all-you-can-eat buffet of groovy music, hilarious film footage and shocking revelation.

As she peels away the layers of her shady past

Amy asks – did Mama Cass die choking on a ham sandwich? Did her sister really eat a two-week old hash brown she found in the back of a station wagon? And just who is Schwartzy the dog?

Seen on countless TV shows and a regular on BBC Radio, Amy is co-founder of Olivier Award winning performance club Duckie. Having conquered the airwaves she returns to the stage in a brand new show.

'A phenomenon.'

The Independent

'Bags of charisma...
this woman should have her own TV series.'
